Note that public views from the areas south and east of Innes Ave/Hunters Point Blvd will not be affected by development in the India Basin area, due to the steep topography.

* Policy 1.1 in the Urban Design Element of San Francisco General Plan emphasizes the City’s desire to recognize and protect major views in the City, with particular attention to those of open space and water.

* Public access areas such India Basin Shoreline park and the Bay trail provide views from the Project Site towards the East Bay, the Bay and downtown San Francisco.

* Visual access to the Bay can be provided by the designated public view corridors above. These corridors can also serve to direct pedestrians and drivers from the inland toward the public access provided at the Bayfront.

* Streets and stairs operate as view corridors. Where possible major view corridors will alight at the turning point of the primary streets system to continue visual and physical access to the Bay from the public thoroughfare.
